Mr. Powderly was asked if it were true that it was in contemplation to order the strike off. He replied:

"No. There is no likelihood that the strike will be declared off. We know that the Kew York Central is not moving freight, and the condition of its businesse will report to us from all points along the in a day or so, and we will then be able to may just how many cars the company is move. By

'I think the Association of Railway Mansgers is a first-class move. It brings the question of Government control of railroads in some shape prominently before the public.

'If the great railways of this land wish to do it, they may any day form such a combination as will squeeze the very life out of the nation itself. They have that power now. will attempt to thrust such an issue aside, for it stands too prominently before us for us not to see it.

"With the wealth at their command they can purchase votes, newspapers, Legislatures and Judges.

"In fact they do that now, unless all reports are false, and if they crown this by an attempt to rule with an iron hand the essential parts of the railway machinery—the employees—they will force an issue that will open the eyes of more people than have awakened since this strike began."

General Secretary Hayes talked with an Evering World For Phinadelphia. Knights were still fighting the Kew York Central Company.

'Is there any likelihood that the strike will be declared off after an investiga in by the State Board of Arbitration?'

'Not the slightest. If the State Board finds that we were in the wrong, why, it will then be a question for our Board to consider. We are in to fight."

Mr. Hayes was asked as to a report that the Knights of Labor would boycott the New York Central, and he replied:

"I will not say that the Knights will boycott the Nsw York Central, and the replied:

Gen. Supt. Yoorhees returned from Albany this morning, and he reported that matters were in good ahape at that point. He said that the strikers had not as yet stampeded, but the road was getting on without them.

General Master Workman Powderly and General Secretary Hayes were busy arranging the work for the speakers who are to stump the State along the line of the Central.
